What is Congress?
The United States Congress is the legislative, or lawmaking, branch of our federal government. Congress is bicameral, which means it is made up of two chambers: the Senate and the House of Representatives. Each chamber includes elected officials from all fifty states. They meet in Washington, D.C. to legislate, or make laws, for the entire country. Congress was created by the Constitution, and that document describes how this branch of government works.

Why Congress?
When the Constitution was written, the goal was to create a government that represented the people. Congress works toward this goal by creating laws that reflect the needs and wants of United States citizens. The work Congress does serves the nation as a whole. Senators help by representing the needs of their entire state, while members of the House (also called Representatives) work for the people in a specific section of their state.

How does it work?
All of the instructions for Congress can be found in the first section of the Constitution, Article I. It is the longest section of the Constitution, and it covers a lot of ground. How old do you have to be to serve in Congress? How long do you get to serve? How does Congress relate to the other branches? All of this and more can be found in a close read of Article I, but this handy chart shows some of the basics!

The Powers of Congress

The Constitution also lists the powers Congress has that the other branches and the individual states do not have. These are called enumerated, expressed, or listed powers. The Constitution doesn't necessarily say how each power should be used—just that they belong to the legislative branch. This can create controversy about what Congress is actually allowed to do. Depending on how you count them, there are between 17 and 35 individual powers on the list. Here are a few:

- Create rules on how to become a citizen
- Collect taxes, pay debts, and borrow money
- Regulate commerce (trade) between the states and with other countries
- Coin money and punish counterfeiters
- Punish pirates (!)
- Establish post offices, protect patents and copyrights
- Create lower federal courts
- Declare war, raise and support an Army and Navy
- Make any other laws that are “necessary and proper” to carry out the powers in this list

So, what about the law making?

The members of the House and Senate have a really important job. They are in charge of making the laws that run this country! Representatives and Senators are called legislators because they have the unique power to write bills, or legislation, that could become laws. How is a law made? It starts with having an idea about how to deal with a problem facing the country. Then there is a lot of research, conversation, compromise, and more conversation!

Watch a Bill become a Law!

Bills can start in either chamber of Congress, but our example starts in the House of Representatives.

1. The Proposal
   A representative writes a bill and gets support from others in the House.

2. The Introduction
   The bill is assigned a number and is read aloud to the other Representatives. Then it is sent to a committee for a close review.

3. The Report
   If the committee likes it, it will be sent to the to the whole House for debate.

4. The Floor Debate
   All of the representatives get a chance to read the bill and debate whether it should be supported or opposed. The bill is read again and changes are suggested.

5. The Vote
   If changes are made, the bill is read again, and the whole House is called to vote on the bill. They can vote yes, no, or present (if they don’t want to vote on that particular bill).

6. The Delivery
   The bill arrives at the Senate, where it goes through the same debate, changes are made, then another vote is held before it can move on.

7. To the President!
   If both chambers of Congress approve, the bill lands on the president’s desk. If it is signed, it becomes a law. If it is vetoed, it doesn’t.*

*Congress can override a veto if there are enough votes (2/3 of Congress) to do so. The president can also ignore the bill. If a bill is ignored while Congress is in session, it automatically becomes a law after ten days. If Congress is not in session, it doesn’t.
Help the Historian. Someone has found an early copy of the Constitution, but it is in pretty bad shape, and lots of pieces are missing—especially in Article I. Now that you know about Congress, you can help fill in the gaps! Read each excerpt and decide what should go where the numbers are.

SECTION. 2.

(1) shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a (2) who shall not have attained to the Age of (3) Years, and been seven Years a (4) of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen. (5)

1. Which chamber of congress is Section 2 talking about?
2. What role is missing here?
3. How old must they be to serve?
4. Seven years of being a what?
5. What does that last part mean? Can you put it in simpler language?

SECTION. 3.

(1a) of the United States shall be composed of two (1b) from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each ... shall have one Vote.

No Person shall be a ...who shall not have attained to the Age of (2) Years, and been (3) Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he (4) shall be chosen.

1. Which chamber of congress is Section 3 talking about? What is this role called?
2. How old must they be to serve?
3. How long must they have been a citizen?
4. FYI– The first woman to be elected to this chamber was Hattie Caraway of Arkansas in 1932.

SECTION. 5.

...Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings (1), punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member ... (2)

1. Who makes the rules for how the House and Senate do their jobs?
2. CHALLENGE QUESTION: If the Senate wants to expel a member, how many other Senators have to agree?
A. Who does what? Read each statement and decide if it is about the House of Representatives, the Senate, or both! Write the letter on the diagram.

A. Members represent an entire state
B. Bills about taxes and money must start here
C. Approves presidential appointments
D. Members represent citizens
E. Serve two-year terms
F. Passes bills onto the president to become laws
G. There are 100 members of this chamber
H. Can override a presidential veto with a 2/3 vote of support
I. Have to be at least 25 to serve in this chamber

B. Compromise! Just because Congress is made up of two different chambers, doesn’t mean that they don’t have to work together to get the job done. Read through each version of this imaginary bill to see where common ground might be found.

1. Read both bills. Circle the items that the versions of the bills have in common.

House Version of the Education Bill
- Increase funding for afterschool activities.
- Encourage teachers to fundraise for classroom materials.
- Extend the school year by 10 days.
- Lengthen the school day by one hour.
- Allow students to create their own classes.

Senate Version of the Education Bill
- Cut funding for afterschool activities.
- Encourage teachers to buy classroom materials with their own money.
- Extend the school year by 6 days.
- Require the school day to start earlier.
- Improve school lunches with more local produce.

2. Find a solution. Select two items that could go in the final section of the bill and write them below. (You may need to find middle ground.)

Item One:

Item Two:

3. Getting Support. You had to make some hard choices. Which chamber will support your compromise the most? Would they both agree? Explain your answer.
